One last thing, Eric can you please read the council this & pass our the blue cards to everyone? From me... Thanks!

This is our last meeting of this year. I am so sorry I couldn't be here today to share it with everyone but please accept my cards! It is probably for the better I'm not there for the last meeting because I would probably be a crying wreck (like I am currently while typing this)! Haha! It has been such an honor being your President this past year. Thank you all for dealing with me and helping through situations. Thank you for always making my week end on a great note. Thank you for always shining a positive light on this choir program. Thank you for letting me guide you throughout this year and for you guiding me as well. Thank you, thank you, thank you... This has never been just my council it's our council. We have accomplished so much this year as a team. This has been such a special year for so many reasons. I feel this council has had one of the strongest bonds and the closest friendships and I haven't noticed that in years past. Maybe its because I sit in front and see all your shining faces every week, I notice it more, but nonetheless its apparent. I see a light in every single one of you that is so special. Every single one of you will go on and do amazing this weather its within this program or onto your future. I love each and everyone of you and wish you all the best. I will miss you all so much, and I hope you think this years council was just as great as I thought it was. Thank you all again. But, This is not goodbye, it's a "See you later".
